(Wire-baired for terries.)

From early this morning exhibitors have been arranging for benches on which their dogs are to be shown, and many had their dogs with them to go in training for a week's howing.

The event is of importance because it is Brooklyn's first dog show. The rink will accommodate 1,200 dogs and nearly all the space will be taken.

They are Henry Johnson, fireman; William Bradley, truckman of 20 Pearl street; James Crowley, truckman of 107 John street; James Donevan, nieman, he home; Thomas Hammille, cook, living on the boat, and Charles O'Connor, a deck hand.

Capi. Eason, after investigating, believes that the nan was killed accidentally. Johnson explains the presence or blood-status on and rolled him over on his side.

Capt. Eason thinks that kerrigan started to go down to the Bre-room and fell downstales, brooking his neck.
